DON'T MISS ----

On Friday evening, January 27, Ray Garner of the American and Canadian Alpine Clubs is showing his color movie, "The Mountain" at Constitution Hall.

The movie shows an ascent of the Grand Teton by the Exum route as climbed by Glenn Exum, Paul Petzoldt, and Ray's wife Virginia. We hear that this route up the Grand is one of the airiest and most enjoyable climbs in the Tetons, and the movie is the airiest and most enjoyable climbing picture we have seen.

The old saying, "It takes one to catch one," can surely be applied. It takes a mountaineer to photograph a mountaineer. As a mountaineer Ray has many first ascents to his credit, perhaps the most notable being that of Mt. Brussels in the Canadian Rockies.

Ray has been making movies professionally for fifteen years and feels that background music is as important to the effectiveness of a movie as the picture itself. He has edited this movie especially to fit one of Beethoven's symphonies, which accompanies the movie and lecture.

Unfortunately, tickets to individual Geographic lectures are all too hard to get. If you know of someone who has tickets and will not be attending, by all means beg, borrow, or steal them. We feel that you will be more than repayed for your trouble.
